

ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE
Journalism Human
Bioethics
Death Penalty DIGNITY
Regulation

Maiden Bioethics Essay Competition for 'IJME Young Bioethicist and Change-makers Award'

For creating spaces for young scholars to engage with bioethics matters and share their views with the larger peer community

Essay themes

1. Health care professionals and the death penalty in India: Ethical obligations and challenges
2. Ethical challenges and responsibilities in health journalism
3. Artificial Intelligence in health care: Ethical and regulatory quandaries

Who can submit essays?

Post graduate, MPhil and Doctoral students studying in India from a range of disciplines including Medicine, Nursing, Biomedical sciences, Public health, Health management, Law, Social sciences, Humanities, Journalism, and Engineering are welcome to submit essays

Timelines

Essay submission
By midnight of March 21, 2019
Notification to winners
April, 2019

Submit to fmescentre.essay@gmail.com with a cover email explaining briefly (upto 200 words) your motivation for participating in the competition

Jury
Jury members will be drawn from the network of FMES and IJME

Awards

1. The first three winning essays will be posted on the IJME website and be considered for publication in IJME
2. Authors will be fully supported by FMES for a two-week-long internship (cost of travel and stay upto INR 25K) with grass-roots level organisations in India which contribute to enhanced access to quality care as an ethical obligation

Guidelines for Essay Writing Contest

Word count: About 1500 words, Language: English
Essay content: Innovative, thought provoking essays with fresh perspectives on the issue at hand will be preferred
Focus: Must centre-stage ethical, social, cultural and legal aspects
Citation style: Must use a single citation style consistently through the essay
Type of file: Microsoft Word document and named as author's FirstName_LastName_DateofSubmission.docx
Insertion of pictures: If any are inserted, must be sourced appropriately
Inclusion of contact information: Must mention - Name, Postal Address, Contact number, Brief Bio-sketch in the covering email

Please visit www.ijme.in or write to fmescentre.essay@gmail.com for any query