Musing over ethics

GANESH SINGH DHARMASHAKTU

Haiku, one of many notable imports worldwide from Japan, represents a characteristic way of expressing soulful thoughts in the form of a three-line verse pattern. The verses generally follow the 5-7-5 rule, corresponding to the number of syllables in each line. The haiku is capable of conveying strong emotion despite its brevity. Occasionally, use of haiku in explaining succinctly the concepts and nuances of medical ethics can bring a fresh perspective to both new readers and enthusiasts.

Plagiarism
Stolen words on the page,
Fail to cover up the foot prints,
That lead back home.

Salami-slicing
To a chef well-trained,
Bring the dish in a hundred forms...
It will taste the same.

Ghost author
While the lieutenant built it,
Stone by stone till stoned to death,
The ‘General’s Mansion’ stands on a grave.

Fabrication
While data is overcooked,
With too much spice in the broth,
Facts burn to charcoal.

Falsification
It’s a strange thing,
To compare oranges with apples,
While wishing for a passion fruit.

Author: Ganesh Singh Dharmashaktu (drghaneshortho@gmail.com), Associate Professor, Department of Orthopaedics, Government Medical College, Haldwani, Uttarakhand, 263 139 INDIA.
To cite: Dharmashaktu GS. Musing over ethics. Indian J Med Ethics. 2023 Oct-Dec; 8(4) NS: 344. DOI: 10.20529/IJME.2023.054
Published online first on September 16, 2023.
Manuscript Editor: Rakhi Ghoshal
Copyright and license
©Indian Journal of Medical Ethics 2023: Open Access and Distributed under the Creative Commons license (CC BY-NC-ND 4.0), which permits only non-commercial and non-modified sharing in any medium, provided the original author(s) and source are credited.