

CREATIVE SPACE

Sea of Galilee

VIDIT PANCHAL

Written on the shore of the Sea of Galilee in Capernaum, Israel in May 2024, amidst the ongoing Israel-Hamas conflict that turned into one of the greatest humanitarian crises of the 21st century

I knew
That you were not a real Sea.
And you did not send,
Unlike a Sea,
A sigh of waves to my feet.

But your fishes spoke to me
Of an endless quest,
A quest for home,
The home of their birth.
And they wanted to say more
But, the boats!
The boats drowned their voices
Fishermen hooked a few of them
Some got netted,
And I was asked
To say nothing to anyone...
But I was allowed to take photographs.

Of course, I knew
you were not a real Sea.
How is it then,
That a sighing wave
Still reached me
But not the fishes,
Quite like a Sea?

Author: Vidit Panchal (viditp7@gmail.com) Community Health Physician, Basic Healthcare Services, Vidya Bhavan Rural Institute, Badgaon, Udaipur, Rajasthan 313001, INDIA.

Conflict of Interest: None

Funding: None

To cite: Panchal V. Sea of Galilee. Indian J Med Ethics. Published online first on 26 May, 2025. DOI: 10.20529/IJME.2025.042.

Submission received: February 14, 2025

Submission accepted: April 15, 2025

Manuscript Editor: Meenakshi D'Cruz

Copyright and license

©Indian Journal of Medical Ethics 2025: Open Access and Distributed under the Creative Commons license (CC BY-NC-ND 4.0), which permits only non-commercial and non-modified sharing in any medium, provided the original author(s) and source are credited.